

GSE Team 4570 Brazil Team Profile

Team Leader

Fábio de Oliveira Fagundes, 32, single, is a member of RC Rio de Janeiro Maracanã. He is the first Paul Harris Fellow of his club and a Paul Harris Society member. In 2008/2009 he'll be very busy as the President of the Rotary Foundation Committee in his club, and also serve his District as Rotaract Coordinator, RYLA Coordinator and member of the Matching Grant Projects Subcommittee. He joined the Rotary family as Rotaractor in 2001. He is a proud honorable member and Past President 2005/2006 of the Rotaract Club of Rio de Janeiro Tijuca. He was a GSE team member to District 3260 (India) in January 2006. His GSE experience was very important to strength the knowledge and enthusiasm in the TRF. He graduated in Cartographic Engineering and post graduated in Computational and Systems Engineering. His research areas are high performance computing and information security. Since January 2007 he's been working for Transpetro -the Petrobras Company in charge of transporting crude oil, fuel, natural gas and ethanol using ships and pipelines. As cartographer he's now in charge of the Geographic Information System initially designed to support the pipeline integrity division. His hobbies are trekking, soccer, basketball, volleyball, running and rowing. He hopes this GSE program will result in an intense cooperation between both districts, especially with Matching Grants Projects both in the USA and in Brazil.
